

I may be only 10, but I sure can do a lot to protect groundwater.

One way I can protect groundwater is by picking up litter in my neighborhood and at my school, as well as have a huge community clean up day.

I can also encourage my friends and family to reduce, reuse, and recycle. I already recycle and it is a lot of fun and super easy.

Also, I could go to storm drains with my family or even my friend to create a friendly message about our groundwater.

With all the contamination threats to groundwater, what difference could I make? TONS! This person could be you. So make a difference, protect the groundwater near you!
